County board of supervisors set July 17 for first hearing on the $16,082,799 preliminary county budget, 4.7 percent larger than last year's.

The sheriff's department has been given $33,140 increase over last year's budget for a total of $593,375. This provides for new deputies for two-man patrol throughout the county. In several areas there has been two-man patrols for some time; and it is needed in locations such as Alisal, an unincorporated city of 20,000 inhabitants fringing Salinas.

Fifty percent of the cost of policing Alisal, and the heavily populated unincorporated areas surrounding the Peninsula towns is paid by the property owners in the corporate cities who maintain their own fire and police protection.

We should like to see more progress on the part of the committee that is studying this problem.

County Administrator Walter Mansfield, who prepared the budget, has omitted the $15,000 contribution to the Monterey County Industrial Development committee. He omitted it last year but the supervisors put it back in. We can expect a repetition of this process unless a large number of determined taxpayers appear at the public hearing ready to oppose such a move.

Industrial development is the last thing most of the taxpayers want in this county. Factory payroll represents low individual income, which is also uncertain, as the "depressed" areas of the nation clearly indicate. The taxes paid by industry do not compensate for the increased education

Arts commissioner Geza St. Galy, yesterday afternoon, delightedly showed other commissioners a $100 check he had received from Mrs. Elizabeth Orr Kanevski of Carmel and Cape Cod. The check was made out to Puppets of Carmel and will be used by this organization, at Mrs. Kanevski's suggestion, to construct a stage for shadow and stick puppet shows so that Puppets of Carmel may present programs at Carmel's community Forest Theater Sundays.

A patriotic new resident, who prefers not to be named, took count of flags displayed yesterday, Flag Day, in the business district.

Apart from those at city hall, library, fire house, post office and Red Cross chapter house, he found only five flags flying, Junipero to the ocean on Ocean Avenue, one on Lincoln Street. He also says he had to send out of town to buy a flag when he came to live here a year and a half ago.

River School's Book Binge Tuesday evening provided 226 volumes to start a library at the school.

The Carmel Unified School District will lose a "member of the family" at the end of this school year. Wynand Eugene Viljoen—otherwise known as Gene—is retiring this month after 16 years of service with the schools.

In recent years, Gene Viljoen has served as director of maintenance for all seven schools in the Carmel District, supervising gardeners, custodians and other maintenance workers. For nearly nine years, his base of operations has been a house-on-wheels parked near Carmel High School, equipped with telephone-telegraph equipment and most of the amenities of home.

Gene's immediate retirement plans center on completion of a more stable homestead. He and his wife have already finished the better part of the work on a new house, situated on Rancho Road in Carmel Valley, and hope to move in by July 1. Joining them in the transfer to the new abode will be their younger daughter, Barbara, who graduated from Carmel High and now attends Monterey Peninsula College. Among the Viljoens' new Valley neighbors will be their son, Ben, and his family, and daughter Janine (Mrs. Thomas Bottaro), her husband, and their children.

Gene has some reservations about abandoning their trailer home—"Once you adjust to this kind of life, it's a wonder people want to go back to a house"—but

GRADUATION

Graduation exercises take place this evening at Sunset School, 8:00 o'clock, in the auditorium.

Friday evening, 8:30 o'clock, Carmel High School seniors will graduate in King Hall at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School.

Saturday, Monterey Peninsula Junior College commencement will be held at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the college stadium.

Summer School classes for elementary and junior high school students in Carmel Unified School District begin on June 26 and will continue until August 4.

Meeting Friday To Save Local KPFA Reception

Local subscribers to KPTA-FM, listener-sponsored radio station in Berkeley, are urgently requested to participate in a special meeting with station representatives on the Monterey Library meeting room.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the continued reception of KPFA on the Peninsula, where Family Stations, Inc., proposes to construct a new Class B FM station. The proposed station, operating at 94.5 megacycles, would obliterate local reception of KPFA, which broadcasts at 94.1 megacycles.

Several hundred Peninsula and Salinas residents are among the supporters of KPFA, a non-commercial operation sustained entirely by voluntary subscriptions of listeners in the Bay Area and Northern California. KPFA's unique policy and programming has received wide attention both nationally and internationally. In the ten years of its operation, the station has received numerous honors and citations for excellence in broadcasting, among them several Peabody Awards and a grant from the Ford Foundation.

Of special interest to local listeners have been KPFA's live broadcasts of the Carmel Bach Festival, interviews with and programs by several local writers, artists and educators, and taped recordings of outstanding speakers at Monterey Peninsula College and Asilomar.

Harold Winkler, president of Pacifica Foundation (which operates KPFA as well as its sister FM stations KPFA in Los Angeles and WBAI in New York City, also listener-supported), will be present for Friday's meeting, along with KPFA station manager Trevor Thomas and Chief Engineer Erwin Goldsmith.

MPC Budget Reduced By $19,145.83

Monterey Peninsula Junior College District trustees, last night, adopted a preliminary budget of $1,532,423.83 for 1961-62. This amount is $19,145.83 less than the 1960-61 budget. A reduction in the junior college tax rate, now 51 cents per $100, is expected as a result of this reduction in the budget, according to Dr. Frederick Huber, Monterey Peninsula College president and superintendent of the college district.

Only two questions raised by board members concerning the 1961-62 budget related to bus service for Pacific Grove, Carmel and Carmel Valley students, and the eight-tenths of one cent tax for community services.

On July 1 the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District will be completely separated from the Monterey Union High School District which formerly operated the college.

During the time the high school district operated the college, MPC used buses belonging to the high school district. The college district will have only one bus. Trustees asked Dr. Huber last night to determine the need and cost for transporting Carmel and Carmel Valley students to the college in this bus and present the information to them in a report. He estimates 50 students from these areas used the bus this year.

Trustees, after receiving Dr. Huber's report, will determine whether or not MPC, a collegiate institute, is obligated to continue student bus service to Carmel and the Valley, also Pacific Grove. The amount budgeted this year for bus service is $5,000.

The community service budget item of $9,235 for lectures, recitals

Library Receives Art Gifts, Learns Of James' Property

At its meeting yesterday afternoon the board of the Harrison Memorial Library received a gift of a bronze head of the late painter, Paul Dougherty by Jo Davidson. Arne Halle, executor for the Dougherty estate presented the gift, which comes from Dougherty's daughter, Mrs. Lisa Dougherty Coon, of Devon, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Coon became the heir of the Dougherty estate, which includes over 1000 paintings and other objects of art, at the death of her mother, Paula, in Pacific Grove on January 18. Dougherty died 14 years ago. The paintings, some by her father and some collected by her father, were shipped to her recently.

The Davidson head of Dougherty was given the library provisionally. The library is to have it for a year, at the end of that time, if it is still appreciated and wanted, the library will receive full title.

During the board business meeting, Mrs. Ruth Thornburg, librarian, reported on the will of the late Austin James. With the excep-

Council Accepts New Salary Schedule; 3.4 Raise For Employees

Carmel's city attorney was instructed by the council last night to prepare a resolution covering the new job classification and salary schedule for city employes, based on a study prepared for presentation at the same meeting by Clerk-Comptroller Lawrence Rose. Councilmen voted the action 4 to 1, with Gunnar Norberg dissenting.

Under it, the city will lay out an annual total of $191,748 in salaries next year, compared to $185,556 last year, an increase of $6,192, or 3.34 percent.

The study, which seeks to eliminate inequities and ambiguity in the city's pay structure, was accepted for incorporation in the resolution as presented, with one minor change, an across-the-board $5.00 increase on a classificati including the jobs of police sergeant, fire engineer, field mechan and assistant building inspector.

Councilmen adjourned the bri meeting until June 26, at 5:0 o'clock, when they will vote on th resolution now in preparation in a effort to have the schedule read to go into effect July 1, the begin ning of the fiscal year.

Mayor Frank Putnam emphasized the importance of annual computation of full benefits for each employe, including salary plus such fringe items as vacations, sick leave, workmen's compensation, insurance, etc. An annually-prepared report to employes on this was voted on as requirement to be included in the resolution.

City employes will, however, bear the expense of operating their own cars.

During discussion of the report, Councilman John Chitwood and Francis Whitaker joined the mayor to present a solid front of approval of the city's near $6,000 budget increase on salaries, feeling that if

NEW FENCE FOR LITTLE LEAGUE PARK

League Standings

	Won	Lost
Pilot Market	3	1
Boys' Town	1	1
San Carlos Realty	1	1
Wilder & Jones	1	1
Sport Shop	0	1
Turner & McEldowney	0	2

With a sturdy and safe portable fence installed in record time by Jack Cate and his hard-working crew, Little League action resumed Tuesday evening with league-leading Pilot Market blanking Turner & McEldowney, 8 to 0, on the one-hit pitching of Scott Lemmons and Kevin Hale. With the win over T&M, the grocers zoomed to a game-and-a-half lead in the second-half chase and appear to be the team to beat as the league goes into the final two weeks' play.

Lemmons and Hale teamed up to throw a solid one-hitter against Jim Kelsey's gang, showing good control while striking out eight T&M swingers. Ronnie Parsons, Pilot shortstop, hit for a perfect 2-2 average and scored two runs to lead all the hitters. Chuck Pearson blasted a two-run homer for the winners and Jay Jepson picked up two blows in four chances. Gary Turner was the only T&M batter to connect safely, hitting a solid single in the first frame.

Tonight at 5:30 o'clock, Turner & McEldowney takes on the tough Boys' Town nine; Friday evening it's Wilder & Jones against Pilot Market; and next Monday's fare has Boys' Town squaring off against Sport Shop.

VILLAGE INN LEADS FARM TEAM LEAGUE

League Standings

	Won	Lost
Village Inn	4	1
Little Sparrows	4	2
Carmel Plaza	3	2
American Legion	2	3
Rockets	2	3
Derek Rayne	2	3
Nikko's	1	4

Although Lee McGuckin's Village Inn nine drew a bye in last Saturday's Farm Team play, it still kept a firm grip on first place as the teams start the run for the wire. While the league-leaders were taking a vacation, Pat Boyle's Little Sparrows made up some ground on the Inn by notching a 16-1 decision over the hard-trying Nikko's club. With Jim Grey pitching a no-hitter against Ewell Cole's gang, the Little Sparrows put the game away in the first heat by scoring four runs, a pair of walks and singles by Alex Kaneveski and John Jensen. On the strength of his brilliant pitching record in Farm League play, Grey is being moved up to the Little League and will soon be seen cavorting in the Turner & McEldowney lineup.

Fred Culver's Carmel Plaza crew moved up to third place by upsetting John Harrison's Derek Rayne nine, 7 to 4, as Linder Laiolo tossed a five-hitter against the clothiers. Carl Noto swung the big bat for the Plaza, hitting 3-for-3 and scoring two runs. Chris Smith scored three runs to lead the clothiers in their losing cause.

Wes Ball's Rockets, after enjoying a two-game win streak, were slowed down on their surge to the top of the league as Tom Crampton's American Legion aggregation outlasted them, 17 to 13. The Legion could garner only three hits off the slants of little Dan Yurkovich but the plate was jumping around for the smooth-throwing righthander and he gave away twenty free passes. Scott Crampton pitched the win for the Legion, giving up five hits over the six-inning route. Mike Mahoney, Rocket third-baseman, was the top hitter of the game, getting a double and single in three trips to the plate.

This Saturday's Farm League play brings together American Legion and Village Inn at 10:00 a.m.; Nikko's and Carmel Plaza at 12:00 Noon; and the Rockets and Derek Rayne at 2:00.

MERCHANT SOFTBALL NINE DIVIDES PAIR

With a 4-3 win over the Salinas Colonial Gardens club and a 3-1 loss to the Seaside A-Z Sport Shop, the Carmel Merchant softball team earned an even break in its last two outings. The Merchants found their win over Colonial Gardens an expensive one as hustling Paul Artellan picked up a severely sprained ankle which will put him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season. A spirited team leader, Artellan had just driven in the first run for the Merchants when his cleats caught on a base and ended his playing for this year.

Gene Zinani pitched five-hit ball in racking up the win over Colonial Gardens. The sturdy righthander was in trouble several times throughout the game but turned back the visitors when the chips were down. Phil Ramirez hit a long triple and a single to pace the Merchants at the plate.

Don Davidson's A-Z Sports repeated an earlier win over the Merchants Tuesday night as they put on a three-run burst in the fifth heat to overtake the Carmel pastimers. The Merchants were held to a pair of safeties by hurler Al Howard, going down in order in five of the seven innings. Phil Ramirez, Carmel hurler, also pitched two-hit ball, but a costly infield miscue in the big inning spoiled his fine pitching effort.

Tonght the Merchants travel to Pacific Grove for a league tussle with league-leading Peninsula Paint. In this one they will be facing big Jim Morton, the king of the softball pitchers in this area. Morton has taken his team to the State Tournament for the last four years and appears headed for another trip to the softball classic.

Inge Drama Opens At Circle Theatre Tomorrow Night

One of the most highly praised of modern psychological dramas, The Dark at the Top of the Stairs, will open tomorrow night at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. Its author, William Inge, also penned such outstanding stage and screen hits as Come Back, Little Sheba, Picnic, and Bus Stop. The Dark at the Top of the Stairs was recently released in a film version following a long Broadway run and a transcontinental road tour. The Circle will be presenting the play for the first time in this area.

Playwright Inge won both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics' Award for Picnic in 1953. He might be expected to have duplicated these triumphs in 1958, when the Broadway reviewers hailed The Dark at the Top of the Stairs as his best play, surpassing even Picnic in its skilful mixture of comedy, pathos, and perceptive character study. Paradoxically, "Inge's best play" lost both of the official accolades to an even more impressive rival, Look Homeward, Angel, which had opened only a fortnight earlier. The Circle Theatre thus has the distinction of presenting the best and second best plays of 1957 within a single season.

Set in an Oklahoma town in the early '20's, The Dark at the Top of the Stairs concerns a few stormy days in a middle-class marriage, as seen through the eyes of the children whose lives will be shaped by the outcome. A ten year old boy and his teenage sister watch their parents' bitter quarrel, overhear the confessions of a raucous aunt, witness the tragic effects of small-town bigotry, and seek clumsily to relate what they see and hear to the feelings within them. The result, in the words of the New Yorker's late critic, Wolcott Gibbs, is a series of scenes "as touching or as funny as anything (Inge) has ever done."

Inge drama will continue on weekends through July 23 under the direction of Frederick Rider.

Ballet De Patrice New Local Venture At Sunset, Sat., Sun.

Saturday and Sunday, Carmel's Sunset Auditorium will be the initial setting for one of the most ambitious programs yet undertaken by a group of local dancers.

Believing that this area is producing some of the finest dancers to be seen on any stage, Miss Patricia Ramsey and Albert Olinger combined their talents in the fields of choreography and production under the name Raminger Productions, and have formed the first touring, junior ballet company to operate from this area and the second such company to originate on the Pacific Coast.

Miss Ramsey, under whose direction the company has developed, is a former member of The Ballet Celeste, the first touring, junior ballet company in the United States and following that a member of the New York Metropolitan Opera Ballet Company. Since her return to the Monterey Peninsula, her activities have been confined to teaching in the school which she and Mr. Olinger operate, and in handling a large portion of the choreographic work at California's First Theatre.

With the exception of Mr. David Hardie, formerly of the San Francisco Opera Ballet Company, who is the newest addition to the group, all members of the company have received their training here on the Monterey Peninsula.

This first presentation of the Ballet De Patrice by Raminger Productions will be composed of two offerings, widely divergent in styles, and designed to please a discriminating audience.

The first portion of the program is a balletic interpretation of Pinocchio, the story of the animated marionette, and following the intermission, The Ballet Militaire, based on the music of John Phillip Sousa.

In addition to their June 17 and 18 appearances at Sunset Auditorium, this group will perform at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley for five weeks, and is planning appearances in San Jose and Santa Cruz as well. If the Ballet de Patrice measures up to the hopes of its producers, the Monterey Peninsula will have gained a welcome addition to the entertainment field.

July Retirement To Carmel Valley Home Awaits Mr. Viljoen

feels "we're going to an equally exotic spot".

Moving is merely the initial operation in Gene Viljoen's retirement program. He can't understand "people who complain they have nothing to do after they retire."

"Both my wife and I have a love of nature and far places," he says, and as soon as possible, they hope to return to the trailer for a long trip across the United States and "a part of Mexico we've always dreamed of — the Sinaloa coast, south to Guanajuato". Other trips are in the dreaming stage, too, but they will have to wait until Gene completes another major project: the biography of his father, the late General Ben Viljoen, heroic leader of the Boer War. Gene originally planned to have the book printed in this country, but recently has received interested inquiries from publishers in South Africa.

Gene Viljoen's own background is suitably adventurous. Born in South Africa, he embarked at the age of sixteen on a series of jobs and explorations that took him from the African veldt to ranching in New Mexico, cowpunching in the Black Hills of South Dakota, maintaining telephone lines via dog team near Lake Tahoe, serving as first manager of the Monterey Airport, getting into the thick of the World War II action in the Pacific as a maritime officer, and maintaining a continued interest in telegraphy and "ham" radio. He and his wife came permanently to Carmel in 1942.

Of his impending "active retirement", Gene Viljoen observes, in his pleasantly lilting accent, "I look forward to it with great anticipation—and that's what means to you everything."

Flamenco singing star, Chinin de Triana, will present a single concert performance of his gypsy art at Sunset Auditorium, on the evening of June 24. Also appearing with the young Spanish artist will be dancer Loreta Garcia and guitarist Pepe del Monte.

Carmel Pine Cone
To the Editor:

Apparently many music loving people of the Peninsula are unaware of the musical feast being spread before us Sunday afternoons in the Musica Viva series in cooperation with the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in the theater on Cannery Row, a most satisfactory setting for just such programs. Some people with imagination and vision believe that civilization is to be saved by the union of mankind in the arts. It is some such selfless devotion as well as a deep love of music which has caused a young Peninsula man to embark on this undertaking. One must pay tribute to his success in overcoming enormous difficulties (Imagine trying to secure an adequate grand piano!) and producing results of such high artistic qualities. These are evidenced in all ways: in the fine musicianship of the artists and their apparent selflessness in their dedication to their art: in the variety of the media; in the skill and artistry in selection and arrangement of items on the uniformly interesting programs: in the beautiful and varied pictures given by the studied stage setting and lighting which aid appreciably to the charm of the performances: and last of all by the enthusiastic appreciation of the discriminating audiences which are increasing in number..

If by any chance you have not heard of these wonderful concerts which one would willingly go miles to hear, you still have a chance. Don't miss the rest!

SUMMER IN LONDON

Tomorrow morning Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton and their younger daughter, Melissa, will be at Monterey airport to wave good-bye to the Loftons' older daughter, Nancy, when she leaves for New York City. After a few days there visiting a former St. John's College classmate, Nancy will continue by air to London where she will be met by Gemma Nesbitt. Nancy and Gemma will share an apartment in London this summer and plan to take trips to other parts of England and, possibly, the continent.

Nancy has been studying at the University of California this year. She and Gemma became friends during the latter's two visits here. Gemma is the daughter of the late Phil Nesbitt of Carmel and Lady Faith Culme-Seymour of Market Harborough in Leicestershire.

costs it creates, as Santa Clara County has discovered.

As we are continually being told, and as anyone can see who looks around him, Monterey County's big industry, in addition to agriculture, is vacationists, attracted by scenery, smog free skies, and a reasonable amount of quiet. It also provides a desirable place for retirement. It will become increasingly attractive for these purposes as industry continues to burgeon around San Francisco, San Jose, and the cities of the southern part of the state. It is fast becoming one of the few areas left in California to which one can run to escape the discomforts, ugliness and heavy traffic of industrial areas.

Aside from the aesthetic stake all of us have in discouraging industrial development in the county, there is the important financial interest of the motel, hotel and restaurant proprietors, and of the developers of luxury residence subdivisions. They have much to lose through the activities of the Industrial Development Committee, and have reason to complain that tax money is used for its support.

and concerts, free to the public, also concerned trustees. Funds for this program are provided by a tax of eight-tenths of a cent per $100 valuation on an estimated tax base for the district of $140,000,000, also $8,750 comes from evening school fees. Trustees decided last night to accept the amount in the budget for community service, after considering these factors.

On July 1 trustees will meet to organize as a separate district, including both Carmel and Pacific Grove. At that time they will elect a chairman and a clerk and officially seat Mark Raggett of Carmel, re-elected to the board this spring, and Dr. Stanley Winters from Pacific Grove, elected to the board for the first time in the same election. Pacific Grove will officially become part of the junior college district on July 1. Carmel joined a year ago.

The paring of the budget did not come in the cost of education item, but in areas such as "fixed charges" rental charge, capital outlay. Separation from the Monterey High School District made additional state aid available.

Five new teachers will be engaged and four more as replacements for those on sabbatical.

Dr. Huber estimates that enrollment next year will be up to a total of 1350. "In the past two years we have absorbed the fall-off of enrollment" because of the establishment of Santa Cruz Junior College.

The college board deferred action until their next meeting on a salary schedule for classified and certificated employes pending special state legislation this week concerning this matter. In the budget $39,000 is provided for salary increases. The salary range now starts at $4820 and ends at $9,225.

Trustees also awarded $1,748.36 liability insurance contract to J. D. Thorn of Monterey, lowest of four bidders. The other three were Carmel insurance agencies.

tion of a live parrot, which he left to the proprietors of the Sabra Pet Shop in Pacific Grove, to be kept as a personal pet, Mr. James left all his property and possessions to the library. This includes three parcels of improved property in Carmel, one in Pebble Beach, and one in Carmel Valley. An appraisal of the value of the property has not yet been made.

The board learned that the library is to receive as a gift, another William Watts painting, and appointed one of its board members, Horace Lyon, to make the selection.

In an effort to discover the extent of use of the library by non-resident students, the board decided to issue special colored and numbered cards to high school students this fall. Board Member Donald Craig said that last school term the city library issued 450 cards to Carmel High School students. He estimated that half of them were residents of the unincorporated area but will make an accurate check.

Question of the extent of use of the library by non-residents has been raised by several city council members in connection with the library board's request for money for building expansion.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

One day last week this librarian noted an item in a city newspaper which stated that the library of the New York Academy of Medicine is having difficulty with cut-ups who mutilate books and periodicals. It was said that the cost of replacing the materials was running into thousands of dollars a year. The next morning our custodian found a handy razor blade stashed away in the stacks here. Which only goes to prove that in our small way, we have big city problems.

It may sound like a broken record, my saying that we do have a group of interesting new books this week, and I say it so often, but by the great horn spoon, we do! Take the first one for today, The Queen's Necklace by Frances Mossiker. It is the story of the diamond necklace which was purchased by and for Marie Antoinette four years before the French Revolution. The necklace vanished somewhere between the jeweler and the queen. Frances Mossiker has translated and collated an astounding mass of documents and personal narratives, a task to which she has been dedicated for five years, and has written this fascinating account of the whole affair. The book is illustrated with drawings and included among them is a sketch of the necklace which was composed of 647 diamonds weighing a total of 2800 carats. Ho-hum!

Richard Tregaskis who wrote Guadalcanal Diary has a new one called X-15 Diary. Since 1959 he has almost lived with the X-15 project and this is a day by day account of the development of the X-15 and the men and women who worked on it.

George Kenman was for a time our ambassador to the Soviet Union and is now a professor at Princeton University. His book is called Russia and the West Under Lenin and Stalin. He traces three decades of change and turmoil in Russia, and the men who played roles on that gigantic stage.

A book which is not on sex but rather on the two sexes, comparing their differences and their differing roles in life, is Sex in Man and Woman: Its Emotional Variations, by Theodore Reik. The author's stand is that the two sexes are very different and he goes about it to show these differences, emotionally and psychologically. Vive la difference, and vive M. Reik!

We have had for some time the first volumes of The Larkin Papers and now volumes five, six, and seven are here. This brings the history through the year 1848.

Finally, we have The Pleasures of Cooking with Wine by Emily Chase, who was formerly an editor of Sunset Magazine. Here are pleasant recipes using wines and all done in a happy book format. The recipes are printed in a two column deal with the directions to the left of the list of ingredients. Somehow it makes it easier to follow. This just might be a good book to own. Borrow the library copy and then buy one for yourself if you want to use it a lot.

Oh shore, we got novels too!

The Kims Open New Shop In Court Of The Golden Bough

A shop featuring imports from Korea is the latest addition to the "inner-oriented" establishments snuggled into the Court of the Golden Bough.

Called, simply, The Kims, the new shop reflects the background and taste of its owner, Edward C. Kim. A native of Korea, Mr. Kim was trained as a lawyer and diplomat, receiving his education in Japan at Tokyo University, and in the United States at the University of Portland (B.A.) and the University of Oregon (M.A.). Mr. Kim served several governmental posts in Korea, and is currently a professor at the U.S. Army Language School.

His wife, Helena S. Kim, is a registered nurse in Monterey County, and was graduated from the Severance Medical School in Seoul, Korea. The Kims make their home in Carmel Meadows with their two daughters, Mary and Julia.

The Kims' shop, which has its off-street entrance on the courtyard next to the entrance to the Artists' Guild of America Gallery, features their own selection of unusual giftwares and furnishings from their native country. Among the items are lacquerware inlaid with mother-of-pearl, etched brassware, and rare Korean dolls.

In Carmel They All But Vote

By Marie Rowland, Animal Reporter

At what time does a formal dinner party cease being formal? When a young Bushtit comes to dinner!

It happened not so long ago. One of our local hostesses was giving what she termed her "deluxe" dinner. Which meant that she had invited a few people to get acquainted. Any informal potluck meal goes for friends of very long standing, as any one knows. But this dinner had to be just right. She cooked her special recipe, brought out the best silver and crystal, even opened a bottle of some age.

The guests had tasted the vintage and exclaimed over its worth, they had smacked their lips over the delicious chicken. There was a general aura of goodwill, but still the evening was young, and as everyone knows, a successful party must not break up too soon. There must be some catalyst to bring the people together so they'll go home with hearts, as well as stomachs, full.

The doorbell rang. There stood a neighbor holding in his hand a ball of cotton. Handing it to the hostess, he explained: "I just picked this up in my driveway, please do something for it!" and then was gone.

Beside the hostess' plate, she placed the ball of cotton and gingerly opened it. There appeared the minutest black beak protuding from a ball of grey and white down, with black pinpoints for eyes.

"What is it?" everyone stretched for a closed view.

"Why it's a Bushtit! . . . a baby Bushtit!" said Maggie.

Someone went right into the kitchen for chicken bits and bread and placed it enticingly beside the minute ball of fluff. But the Bushtit weakly closed its pinpoints and settled further into the white cotton. Everyone at the table began making suggestions, but nothing worked. The Bushtit was dying before their eyes.

Finally someone turned to Helene, widow of the heart specialist. "You're a doctor's wife, what would you do?"

"Have you any good Scotch in the house?" she asked.

The hostess had. And Helene, with a finesse that was past understanding even for a doctor's wife, managed to get some of that whiskey down a throat no bigger in diameter than the eye of a darning needle.

Up went that small head, and in a second tiny wings began flapping. The Bushtit took refuge in Helene's palm where it allowed Helene to give it infinitesimal morsels of chicken.

And that's how it happened. Everyone at that particular dinner party was so happy their hearts overflowed. Everyone loved that Bushtit and were happy it survived. From then on to this day they are all the best of friends.

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Ever wonder how a criminal can be picked up quickly — hundreds of miles from the scene of his crime? The police Teletype network helps make it possible. Set up and maintained by telephone people, the network links hundreds of law enforcement agencies in this and adjoining states.

When a crime is committed, police quickly send a description of the criminal over the network. This way, law enforcement officers are alerted to be on the lookout for the suspect.

Teletype service for police, as well as newspapers, business and the military, is just one of the many kinds of communications telephone people provide for this fast-moving world.

Moments count when a doctor is treating a child who has swallowed something he shouldn't have. And usually that something is of unusual composition. Today the physician can pick up a telephone, call the nearest poison control center and get immediate information on the treatment.

The centers are manned 24 hours a day by qualified technicians who answer emergency calls from doctors. They have extensive files on drugs, household products and other substances.

In the last few years hundreds of centers have been organized throughout the country. They are ready to help your doctor and hospital. It's the telephone that has made possible the poison control centers, one of the fastest growing new developments in the public health field.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The Tenth Musica Viva Concert at the Steinbeck Theatre presented a woodwind ensemble from the San Francisco Conservatory. Seldom does one have the opportunity to hear a combination of clarinet, oboe, bassoon and french horn as in the first offering on the program played by Jean LeRoux, oboe; Donald Carroll, clarinet; Raymond Ojeda, bassoon; and Robert Tefft, french horn. Its effect in dulcet and variegated tones well balanced in the Stamitz quartet, op 8, thoroughly captured the audience. Stamitz was a Bohemian who composed in many forms, including opera, before 1800. This was followed by contemporary Darius Milhaud's quintet—La Cheminee Du Roi Rene—which included the flute. Walter Subke's playing in the many short numbers in the characteristic procession the work suggests added spicy tones to those of the other four instruments. His playing in the C.P.E. Bach Trio also was outstanding and the contributions by all created a distinguished ensemble. To this composition by the famous son of the great Bach, who wrote 34 works for wind instruments besides many other forms, was added the piano. Finishing with a Mozart Quintet for piano, played by Sylvia Jenkins, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn with its recognised melodious forms, the musicians received a deserved ovation. This concert presented another notable group of young artists from the Institute of Theatre Arts, and all were personally complimented at a party given immediately afterward by Architect J. H. Gamble in his cottage in Carmel Woods. Still three more events are to come, the one next Sunday being a recital by Sylvia Jenkins.

Next Sunday also brings the first free musical program by local artists to the Forest Theater where many interesting programs are planned for the summer. There is much developed talent on the Peninsula which should be heard and seen as well as those from elsewhere.

Art On The Peninsula—

A one-man show of collages by Alex Gonzales is currently on exhibit in Holman's solarium in Pacific Grove. He is a student of Elmer Bischoff, Richard Diebenkorn, Clifford Still and Alexander Nepote. He was awarded his bachelor's degree by the California School of Arts and Crafts in Oakland and a master's degree from San Francisco State College.

Alex Gonzales has exhibited in group shows at the Crocker Gallery in Sacramento, the Artists' Cooperative in San Francisco, Richmond Art Center and the Carmel Art Association and has had one-man shows in San Francisco and Fort Bragg. He teaches at Monterey Union High School. This summer he will instruct in oil painting at Monterey Peninsula College.

The Artists Guild of America Inc. Gallery, through June, is displaying a one-man show of 23 paintings by Clifford Reynolds and a group show of the work of 30 other artists. Hours are 11:00-5:00 daily. The gallery is situated on Monte Verde Street below Ocean and also may be entered off Ocean Avenue through the Court of the Golden Bough.

Clifford Reynolds was born in Richmond, Virginia, but grew up in Detroit, Michigan and lived for an interval in New England. He was a radio announcer and actor while attending classes at the Detroit Arts and Crafts Guild and later at the Detroit Art Institute. When he moved to Dallas, Texas, he studied with Ann Auspaugh before entering the display field of art. He continued in this field in Los Angeles while giving more time to his painting and increased his creative work after moving to Berkeley.

He is now display director for a large San Francisco Bay area organization, and has exhibited his paintings in New York, Berkeley, San Francisco and Carmel.

Louisa Jenkins, Big Sur artist, will have a one-man show, Fathoms Deep, at the Discovery Gallery at Casa Manana in Monterey from June 19 to July 18. The 26 pictures she will show are, she says, "an exploration into dual worlds: that of the sea and man's unconscious—through the medium of water." She is a symbolist who uses a strong sense of design with a sense of the mystic in her creations. Paper compressed into thin layers gives her work depth and a watery rhythm. Her colors are muted.

Her childhood and youth were spent by the sea. She skindives, collects from tidepools and beaches, and meditates on the sea. Bones, kelp and actual impressions of ocean objects are allowed to tell their own stories in her work.

Louisa Jenkins is nationally known as a mosaicist. An invitational buffet supper party on Sunday will be a preview to the show.

Paintings by Jean Kalisch may be seen all this month at the Galerie de Tours on Lincoln Street, from noon until 5:00 o'clock daily except Wednesdays.

Jean Kalisch was born in Japan. Her father encouraged her to work in calligraphy as a young girl. The practise of figures in this medium developed in her a feeling for color, beauty and shape. Later she worked as a civil servant in Yokohama and married an American Army man. They settled in San Francisco in 1952 and Jean Kalisch attended the California School of Fine Arts and studied privately with Arthur Palmer, Maria Ridelstein, Stanley Long and Robert Holderman.

She has exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Art; the Rosicrucian Museum, San Jose; Richmond Art Center and with the Society of Western Artists at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

The Coast Gallery at Big Sur will present Joel Andrews, harpist, in a concert on Sunday evening, 8:30 o'clock. He has composed, arranged and performed music for solo harp and ensembles and has played as first harpist with symphonies conducted by Maurice Abravenil, Alexander Hildsber and Richard Lert. At present he is on the faculties of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and the Music Academy of the West and is first harpist with the Oakland and Marin Symphonies.

His program on Sunday will include music by Ribayas, Dalero, Corelli, Handel, Salzeda and Andrews.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read Sunday at Christian Science churches.

The superiority of divine law over the laws of matter will be emphasized. Included in the Bible readings is the account in John (6) of how Christ Jesus walked on the sea to join his disciples in their ship.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read (p. 273): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

The Golden Text is from Revalation (11): "We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou has taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned."

Council Appoints Fire Chief Smith C. D. Assistant

Last week the city council gave Mayor Frank Putnam, who is civil defense chairman, an assistant, Fire Chief Robert Smith, in the city's project to join the state and federal civil defense organization.

Not that the mayor and fire chief expect hydrogen bombs to start flying or that there would be much they could do about it if they did, but for other, here at home, practical reasons.

"Most people think of civil defense as preparation for war-caused disaster," Smith told the Pine Cone. "We're thinking in terms of preparation in case of natural disaster such as earthquakes, windstorms, flood—and in this location especially, of the possibility of one of the many military planes crashing in our streets."

By conforming with the state and federal program and drawing up a plan, the city will not only have the considerable advantage of being able to buy war surplus equipment, and of also making use of the matching-funds arrangement in buying certain equipment, Smith pointed out.

"The City of Monterey got a $25,000 crane for $5,000," Smith said. "We don't need a crane but we certainly need a generator. When the power goes off we can't even operate our fire siren."

Outside civil defense matters, Smith has other problems which he and the council will learn about at budget sessions next month.

Two are legal: Carmel's is the only fire department on the Peninsula still operating its radio on the police radio band. It has to get off the police band by 1963, and Smith thinks it would be advantageous to do so now. "Costs have gone up for this equipment over five percent. The longer we wait, the more the cost." Another law which is being enforced more rigidly throughout the state is the matter of protective clothing for firemen. Hats, coats, pants, boots and goggles for all the volunteers would cost $2600.

"If we buy this equipment for the volunteers and they take it home, what good will it do them when the siren sounds and they run out of their stores and offices and head for the fire?" Smith said. He proposes the council purchase a pickup truck that will serve double duty, carrying lighting equipment and enough protective clothing for the number of volunteers that usually turn out for fire call.

Protective clothing and the cost of the changing over communication system are not to be had through civil defense discount nor matching funds, but the truck is.

they are not kept competitive, the city will suffer.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey, however, at first expressed need for a go-slow attitude until the city could be sure the budget could accommodate such a rise, then later agreed it should be included this year if at all possible.

Mr. Norberg's "no" vote reflected his conviction that no competitive salaries are necessary in Carmel, which should be regarded as an ideal place to work.

In his preamble to the report, Rose pointed out that the city adopted its first comprehensive salary schedule, classifying all employes, and establishing ranges in 1953, but since that time "individual adjustments have disturbed the advancement program and cohesion of the structure. Instances now exist where an employe can be advanced only from the top of one classification to the top of the next higher classification without suffering a loss of pay."

"We find not only a proliferation of classifications but titles which, while conventional, do not reflect the generalized nature of the work performed," the report said.

Effort was made to produce a simple, compact classification structure substituting, where necessary, "titles more clearly indicative of the broad nature of achievement expected of the position," and proposing "reasonably competitive rates of compensation (compared with other jobs of similar nature in nearby cities) bearing in mind the relative importance of the duties, the capacity of the city to support the rates, and need to adjust certain inequities between classifications heretofore existing."

The title "streetman," for instance, will replace the term "laborer," since it carries a more specific meaning, and the term "equipment operator" will replace "truck driver" under the new schedule.

Streetmen and foresters next year will have pay beginning at $320 per month at Step 1, with a raise potential of to $383 for Step 5. Policemen and firemen will get $402 at Step 1 to $480 at Step 5, while police sergeants, fire engineers, field mechanics and the assistant building inspector salaries will range from $438 to $526. (This is the group upped $5.00 by the change adopted last night.)

Under the new plan a police lieutenant, foreman and the assistant city clerk's jobs range from $474 to $570, and the building inspector's position from $508 to $606.

Carmel's police and fire chiefs' salaries are scheduled from $553 at Step 1 to $665 at Step 5, giving Chief Claude Klaumann (who is at Step 5) a $29 raise along with with Fire Chief Robert Smith.

In the only other action taken by the council last night, a resolution was approved transferring some $2,300 from the general fund for Forest Theater repairs.

Purchase price of the books totaled $600.

Books were bought by parents, teachers, children, neighbors of the school, employes and a school board member, Dr. Robert Newton. Sixty cakes were donated for refreshments served under the supervision of Mrs. Freda LeNeve, River School cafeteria manager.

A joint purchase by teachers and pupils was The Book of the Earth by A. C. Spectorsky. Old favorites such as Andersen's Fairy Tales, Robinson Crusoe, Robin Hood, Tales of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table, Bambi, and Heidi were early purchases chosen from book lists and met with enthusiastic approval from the River School pupils who attended the Book Binge, a joint effort of parents and teachers.

Senator Fred Farr has sent a letter to the county planners stating that cypress trees have been planted along the cyclone fence enclosing the U. S. Navy Facility at Point Sur, in accordance with a request of the county planning commission.

The annual meeting of the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter, American Red Cross, will be held on June 22 at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the chapter house at the corner of Dolores and Eighth Streets, according to Edgar Bissantz, chapter chairman.

POLICE COLUMN

Yesterday Phyllis Boyns phoned to inform police that a woman customer had walked off with a mink stole from her Clothes Horse at Sixth and Lincoln; also missing, an oriental silk jacket and a brown satin hat. She was able to give a description of the customer who had departed while she was waiting on another.

Paul Mercurio, State Barber Examiner, has lost through theft his antique barber pole at his shop in the Pine Inn; and to add to a bad-luck week, came out loser in a car battery trade conducted in a San Francisco garage without his knowledge. In the city on official business, Paul left his car in a parking garage, reclaimed it and was barely across the Bay Bridge when it ceased to run. The battery had gone dead. It was not his own battery, Paul discovered, also it is "so old nobody had ever heard of the make."

This morning Carmel police took a 15 year old boy to juvenile hall. He was on probation for a burglary charge a month ago, when a patrolmen found him this morning prowling Pine Inn roof. He'd spent the night in the library light well. He doesn't like his stepfather, he says.

Arrested for allowing his black German shepherd to roam the business district, create a nuisance, and allegedly swipe a package of meat from a delivery truck, James Rustan, Santa Fe and Ocean Avenue, pleaded not guilty in municipal court Tuesday, and asked for a jury trial, which was set for July 11, 9:00 o'clock in the morning. Carmel is the only city in rabies quarantined Monterey county that allows dogs to run loose in the residence district; however, they must be on leash in the business district, and are not allowed in restaurants and food stores.

Gilbert W. McFarland, 61, will spend the next six months at the county work farm, for violating probation. The violation consisted of throwing a chair at Mrs. McFarland when she arrived at her home at Lincoln and Fourth Avenue Monday night about 9:00 o'clock. When he followed up the attack with a 10-inch knife, Mrs. McFarland ran to a neighbor's and phoned the police, McFarland was very drunk, she testified in Municipal Court the following day.

Mrs. Howard Rigsby had an unexpected, uninvited, and unidentified visitor at her home Monday afternoon around 2:00 o'clock. Hearing a noise in her bedroom, she investigated and found a slender young man there who departed hastily with two $5.00 bills she had left lying on the bed. She telephoned the police a detailed description.

Besides telephoning bad news, people bring things to the police: Yesterday, a citizen arrived with a white husky dog in tow, which he had picked up at Ocean and Mission. The police sent for the poundman. The dog was licensed but that does not give him license to roam the business district of Carmel. The pound will find the owner through the license records, and the owner will have to pay a penalty fee.

Mrs. S. E. Allen brought in a Kodak pony 135 which she had found at Carmel River mouth; Mrs. Nick Imperial, a set of keys she had found at Monte Verde and Seventh.

Good citizens as well as bad pass through the low door in the squat little building on the southwest corner of Seventh and Mission Streets.

Lofton Says Council Likes City Hall Art Gallery Idea

Richard Lofton told other Carmet arts commissioners at their meeting yesterday afternoon that he had received informal approval from city councilmen for the proposed memorial art gallery in the city hall council chambers.

Mr. Lofton, at the request of the commission, discussed the proposal with all the councilmen. Yesterday he was asked to prepare recommendations on the project for formal presentation to the council July 5. The recommendations will include estimates of $1,200 to refinish the council chamber walls with plywood siding, and painting of the remodelled walls. An estimate to provide increased but inexpensive lighting for the council chambers, as yet undetermined, will be included in the recommendations prepared by Mr. Lofton. They will be presented to the council by commissioner Geza St. Galy, as Mr. Lofton will be out of town. Commissioners will ask the council to include funds for the art gallery in their 1961-62 budget.

The memorial art gallery in the council chambers will be an official collection of work of artists of this area. Only work of deceased artists will be accepted, the commission decided at an earlier meeting.

The San Francisco Chamber Players will present a concert of Bach cantatas on Wednesday evening, 8:30 o'clock, at Nepenthe, Big Sur. The group on this occasion will have an oboe player, violinist, cellist, trumpeter, harpsichordist and soprano soloist.
